STATEMENT FROM CHRISTIAN RATAJ
Senior Regional Vice President, Western Region

INDIANAPOLIS, IN – The National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies joined with other members of the property/casualty insurance industry in voicing concerns about Washington state insurance commissioner’s call for a ban on the use of risk-based credit in insurance:

“NAMIC is committed to the fair treatment of policyholders, strongly opposing unfair and illegal discrimination. In addition to benefiting the overwhelming majority of consumers, insurance scoring has been shown to be a powerful, objective, consistently applied measure that actually removes subjective opportunities for bias and ensures policyholders are not overpaying to subsidize other customers’ risks. We look forward to working with the commissioner in his continued efforts to protect Washington insurance consumers from unfair and illegal discrimination.”
